California Ocean Protection Council funding of $2.2 M for the San Francisco Estuary Partnership (SFEP) and the Cities of Emeryville, Berkeley and Albany for the development of each community's Regional Shoreline Adaptation Plan (RSAP) was awarded in fall 2025, but sub-agreements are not expected until fall 2026, with work beginning only after these are completed.

The State Coastal Conservancy's Regionally Advancing Living Shorelines in San Francisco Bay (RALS) Project includes ten locations to be part of a cohort of projects to identify nature-based designs for living shoreline solutions adaptable to sea level rise, expected to result in 60% design development and further fundraising, starting in 2026. The Emeryville Shoreline is one of four locations in the East Bay included in the RALS project. Data from the project was shared with staff in February and a kickoff meeting and tour of sites in the East Bay was held in March, with staff touring Cogswell Marsh in Hayward, Emeryville Crescent and Emeryville Marina, and Brickyard Cove in Berkeley. The tour also included a site in Richmond.

Other current adaptation initiatives include so many agencies that an interagency collaboration group is meeting quarterly. These meetings commenced in March 2026 and continued in April as follows:

Feasibility Study: SFEP Emeryville Crescent Horizontal Living Levee (with TAC) feasibility study by a team led by Sherwood Design Engineers met in April 2026 to discuss the Caltrans planning effort for SLR that could impact the Emeryville Crescent Horizontal Living Levee Feasibility.

Pilot Project: Army Corps of Engineers Shallow Water Sediment Placement (2028) with possible cost sharing with the California Coastal Conservancy.

Adaptation Alternatives Studies: San Francisco Oakland Bay Bridge Adaptation Study (Caltrans) and TAC – Arup was selected to manage this study; a kickoff meeting occurred in March. This project was discussed with the Horizontal Levee TAC.

Port of Oakland Climate Adaptation Planning for Oakland's Frontline Communities (CAPOFC): The Port hired AECOM to undertake a detailed flood hazard modeling assessment and Greenbelt Alliance to complete Outreach. The Port is developing flood models for daily tidal flooding, combination stormwater events, as well as developing a groundwater rise model with new flood for the Port's jurisdiction, not including the remainder of the Emeryville Crescent in Emeryville. In April staff were informed of upcoming community workshop series called Waterfront Voices, focused on the future of Oakland's shoreline on May 2 and 7

In April staff on the Technical Advisory Committee for AC Transit's Adaptation Plan received the draft plan for review.

Dr Hill of UCB met with staff in April to scope student and professional work related to groundwater upwelling and related toxic exposure risk assessment.
